

A Walk in the Woods – July 2011

By David Falkenham, UNH Cooperative Extension Grafton County Forester

My dog-walks lately have been at Black Mountain State Forest, a 750 acre state forest that borders the national forest on the shoulder of Black Mountain. After our walk I drive to work, down Route 116, descending out of the wilderness to the Connecticut River Valley where the farmland rolls beautifully to the river's edge. The mornings have been humid and cool, often with heavy fog but the red sun rising over the misty hayfields tells me my comfortable morning temperatures are about to come to an end.

Although my walk is on public land, the scenery for the rest of my drive is provided by private land owners. In fact my parking spot and the first part of my walk are also on private land. I write a lot about the virtues of public land, and I stand by those important virtues but the fact is that 66% of our forests and farmlands in Grafton County are controlled by private landowners. These private lands blend with our towns and villages and make up the rural character that we so often talk about. If you were to ask any local person why they love living here they would likely say something about the quiet countryside, the rural character of the towns, or the forests and farms that define the beauty of the landscape.

Every morning my wife travels from North Haverhill to Lisbon for work, often riding her bike. She often comments on the beauty of her ride, telling of her sightings of bear and deer, the singing of the birds and the farmers out haying their fields. Every mile of her ride crosses private land.

I think we would all agree that this rural character is worth protecting. In fact, if you ever listen to the election speeches of our local politicians they often talk about supporting economic growth, while still protecting our rural character. But what is rural character? This is a tough definition but I think I would start by saying that rural character begins with 'us' that is 'we the people' who have chosen to live this wonderful life in the country. It is important to remember that the backbone of our rural character is the people who own the land, the farmers and forest landowners, who pay for the land, pay the taxes, work the land and keep it un-developed simply because they too love our way of life.

As the UNH Cooperative Extension Forester I often work with towns to help them tackle the challenges of protecting the landscape that we love so much. Recently I have been working with the towns of Bath and Easton to help them write what is known as a Natural Resource Inventory. This document is simply a summary of all the resources in the town that make that town unique; the water, farms, forests, cultural and historical resources in each town that make us who we are. It is a way of documenting everything that we the people love so much. Everything we love and enjoy about this area is at our fingertips but we see it every day so we often take for granted what we have.

The Natural Resource Inventories are simply documentation of a town's rural resources. It is nothing more than a tool to protect what we have. If a town were to face high level developmental pressure such as a Northern Pass issue then the Natural Resource Inventories are a great documentation tool that can be used to prove just where a town stands when it comes to its rural character in the face of development.

If a Natural Resource Inventory interests your town, if your town conservation commission would like me to meet with them, or if you as an individual landowner has questions about the land you own and love, don't hesitate to contact me (603-787-6944, dave.falkenham@unh.edu.).

Chamber and Police Department Collaborating on New Parade Volunteer Program

Volunteers needed to staff events

LITTLETON – With the Littleton Art Show and Lions Club Antique Car Parade less than 2 months away, the Littleton Area Chamber of Commerce and Littleton Police Department have teamed up to ensure that this parade as well as future parades can go off as scheduled at a cost savings to both the Department and parade organizers.

Under the guidance of the Volunteers in Police Service Program, volunteers will assist in overseeing traffic and pedestrians at their position, allow emergency and special permission vehicles to pass, and advise the command center of special situations.

“This is a great initiative that the Littleton Police Department has brought forth to solve this community dilemma, and the chamber fully endorses the work that Chief Smith and his staff have put into developing this program” said Chad Stearns, Executive Director of the Littleton Area Chamber of Commerce. “In my position, one of the biggest letdowns I hear from both guests and locals is that we do not have the parades that we once had. In talking with both organizers and department officials, one of their difficulties is finding resources to adequately staff these parades at a safe level. I think this program is a great solution that will help bring back parades to our wonderful town.”

Volunteers must be at least 21 years old, and go through a background check and mandatory training. For a volunteer job description with a full list of duties, requirements, time and training required and qualifications, or to sign up, please contact the Littleton Police Department at 444-7711.

The Littleton Area Chamber of Commerce is a non-profit organization that strives to work with both members and the community on social and economic development. For more information, please contact the Littleton Area Chamber of Commerce at 603-444-6561, www.littletonareachamber.com.

I Wonder What My Gravestone Will Say

I took a walk with my beagle, Bonehead, recently and we ended up in the Smalltown Cemetery. I noticed there were headstones dating back to the early 19th century, and read many of the inscriptions. As I did so, it occurred to me that most of the gravestones said little, other than the length of his or her life, about the person buried there.

I want my gravestone to be different. The mark I leave on this world may be smaller than a gnat's eye, but I want anyone reading my headstone to know something about me.

There are some inscriptions I don't want on my stone. A couple of them come to mind:

Joe Wright
He Worked Too Much and Played Too Little

or,
Joe Wright
He Didn't Have Much Fun
but He Had a Lot of Money

or,
Joe Wright
1952 to (anything less than 2032)

or,
Joe Wright
Sadly Missed by Almost Noone

I have some ideas for words I'd find acceptable for my gravestone. For instance:

Joe Wright

Devoted Husband and Father
Fan of the Red Sox, Pats, and PBR

or maybe an inscription that tells the story of my demise would let visitors to my grave know I enjoyed life right to the end:

Joe Wright
1952 – 2042

Loving Husband of Winnie
Wright (1957 – 2040)

Killed in Bed by a Jealous Young
Husband (do the math)

In the end, we're all here for a very short while and we leave little behind except a few loved ones and a few words chiseled in stone. Maybe I'll be lucky and my final resting place will be adorned by a beautiful chunk of granite, into which the following words will be etched:

Joe Wright
1952 – 2040
Devoted Husband & Father
Patriot and Outdoorsman

Died at 88 of a Heart Attack Sustained While Dragging Out a State Record 12 Point Whitetail Buck
RIP

Celebrate 100th Anniversary of Weeks Act

Celebrate 100th Anniversary of Weeks Act with 100 Activities at Weeks State Park

LANCASTER — An appearance by Smokey the Bear, live music, a vintage car rally, plein air painters, an afternoon tea, scavenger hunts, and old-time activities like croquet and badminton are among the 100 exciting activities planned for Weeks State Park on Saturday, August 13 and Sunday, August 14, to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the passage of the Weeks Act. This important federal legislation, named for Lancaster native John W. Weeks, led to the creation of the White Mountain National Forest and more than 50 other national forests.

All of the events at the park are free and open to the public. Families with children are especially encouraged to attend, as there will be many activities that appeal to kids.

The highlight of the weekend is an evening champagne reception and musical evening fundraiser with well-known North Country fiddler Patrick Ross & Friends on Saturday, August 13 at the Mountain View Grand in Whitefield. Tickets are $25 and can be purchased by contacting the Arts Alliance of Northern New Hampshire at info@aannh.org or by calling (603) 323-7302. Proceeds from the evening will be shared by Weeks State Park and the Arts Alliance.

In addition, every Thursday from 5 to 7 pm painters will work outdoors at the Park before the evening program. Stay tuned here for more information on all of the activities planned for the weekend, or check for details and updates at www.aannh.org.

The weekend's events are part of the White Mountains Cultural Festival: 8 Days of Weeks, a collaborative, grassroots festival honoring the region's rich natural and cultural heritage that is being held on the eight weekend days of August. Festival activities – all celebrating the connections between art and nature – will be focused in a different part of the region each weekend, with an activity hub serving as the focal point, along with local festivals, heritage days, concerts and other activities in many surrounding communities.

Community celebrations during the first weekend, August 6 and 7, are being held from Plymouth to Lincoln, with special events in Holderness, which will mark the 250th Anniversary of the town, and in Wonalancet, which has planned a village-wide event that includes hikes, talks, home tours, music and art to celebrate Wonalancet as it was 100 years ago.

On the second weekend, in addition to festivities at Weeks State Park, Whitefield will celebrate with an art exhibit, workshops with Weeks cartoonist Marek Bennett, stories of the community and its history told by residents, and a walking tour of the downtown. Specific information on Festival activities and the Weeks Act celebration can be found on the Arts Alliance website at www.aannh.org and at www.weekslegacy.org.

The Festival is coordinated by the Arts Alliance in partnership with the White Mountain National Forest and Arts Alliance members and partners throughout the region and around the state, including the Weeks Centennial Coordinating Committee.

Relay for Life

LITTLETON – As one of the many supporters, volunteers and participants of the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life, Ruth Hamilton of Coldwell Banker LinWood Real Estate was thrilled to be a part of such a great cause. At the 12th Annual Relay for Life, the event raised more than $111,000 to support the Society's mission of saving lives from cancer. This year's contribution brings the North Country's total amount raised to almost $590,000!

There were 36 teams, more than 350 participants, 78 survivors and close to 1200 luminaries that supported the relay for 18 hours at Remick Park in Littleton. (Thanks to the Town of Littleton Parks Department for sponsoring the site of this year's relay!) And it's not too late to do your part. Donations for the 2011 Relay are accepted until August 31, 2011! You still have time to do your part. Cancer does not rest. Keep up the fight!

You can send any remaining donations to:

American Cancer Society
Attn: Relay for Life North Country
2 Commerce Drive, #110
Bedford, NH 03110

"Most of us know someone close to us that has battled with cancer. We can certainly do our part to help the Society and get a few steps closer to finding a cure," noted Ruth Hamilton.

Abbott Rental & Party Store, Burndy, LLC, Littleton Regional Hospital, Passumpsic Savings Bank, the Smith family, Woodsville Guaranty Savings Bank, Littleton Coin Company, Coldwell Banker LinWood Real Estate, New England Wire and the Woodstock Inn & Brewery along with other local businesses, organizations, volunteers and supporters were all key contributors in making this event possible.

For more information, call 800-443-1002.

SHUT DOWN

After having run almost continuously for nearly 1½ years at the stepped-up production pace of seven days a week, the plant at Lincoln shut down on Friday, July 3rd for a period of two weeks to make extensive repairs and improvements. Many of the employees took advantage of this interval by going on a long desired vacation. About 200, however, were employed in the various construction jobs, some of which went on day and night.

Some of the lumber yard and saw mill crews remained on their respective jobs. Others were assigned the task of mowing, drying and pitching the fine crop of hay needed for our horses in the Timberland Department. The most impressive job, perhaps, was the draining of the log storage pond and its subsequent dredging. The old log dam at the lower end of the pond was blasted away and then replaced with a crib-work consisting of over 200 hemlock logs, the interstices of which were filled with the bark, mud, and earth from the dredging operations. The draining of the pond revealed approximately 60 cords of water-logged pulpwood, commonly referred to as "sinkers" or "dead-heads," and their removal caused considerable delay with the excavations. The tractor, owned by Aimie LaBrecque, was put in fine repairs, and even with its ten ton of driving power, had some difficulty in dislodging the "sinkers" and bringing them to points where the old log piler could haul them away. Charlie Doherty operated the bulldozer owned by the Company. Another bulldozer and a steam shovel were brought over and operated by the Viette Construction Co. of Littleton.

Many of the log conveyors were repaired, a new one being built from the pond to the Wood Room and another from the Wood Room to the Hog House. One Drum Barker was completely rebuilt and the other sustained renovations.

The paper machines required general overhauling, cleaning, and adjusting. Both here and in the Acid Plant, the pipers were kept busy in replacing old, worn out stock, water, and acid pipes with new ones. In the Boiler Room, some of the fire boxes were relined with new bricks, and some of the boilers received new tubes. Parts of the Blow Pits were replaced and repaired.

Parker-Young apparently has followed the same procedure as the tailor who said: "a stitch in time today may save nine stitches tomorrow."

FIRE WARDENS' MEETING

On Thursday, July 7th, a very enjoyable evening was spent at the Masonic Hall by the members and their wives of the Pemigewasset District Forest Fire Wardens. The program opened with a short business meeting and then all present sat down to a grand "feed"—as the Fire Warden would say—which was skillfully and most wonderfully prepared and served by the ladies of the Eastern Star. As "Bill" Herrick said when he finished eating, "Couldn't done better, myself."

"It sure was one in a million," Eddie Gilman replied.

Mr. Nichols of North Woodstock then introduced the toastmaster, Irving Brown, who in turn introduced Mr. Rale, Assistant State Forester of New Hampshire, as the first speaker of the evening. Mr. Hale vividly portrayed and talked on the old logging days of the Pemigewasset Valley and the methods of Fire Fighting and Control in those days and compared them to methods used at the present time.

Mr. Bodwell, our jovial and jolly guardian of the Profile and Flume Reservations, gave a most interesting account of his extensive travels in Mexico, during which he showed well over a hundred lantern slides which he had made while on the trip. Mr. Bodwell holds the honor of being the only person outside of the official photographer of the Mexican Government to ever photograph the treasures of art in the Museum of Fine Arts in Mexico City.

Mr. Sherman Adams, superintendent of the timberlands of the Parker Young Company, was the next interesting speaker who spoke about the pleasures and benefits of the meetings.

The entertainment part of the program was very enjoyable with the versatile Lynde duo, brother and sister, with their clever tap dancing. Sherman Adams, accompanied by his daughter, Marion, sang two songs, "Gunga Din" and "Old Man River." Ed Clark was very clever and proficient in "The Rattling of the Bones" with Bill Foley accompanying him at the piano.

In the closing moments of the meeting, Charles Meade, our Forest Ranger of the Plymouth District for the White Mts. National Forest, invited the members to hold their next meeting in August, at Campton Pond Reservation. His invitation was accepted with pleasure.

Many thanks were extended to Mr. Nichols of North Woodstock for the wonderful evening spent by the Pemigewasset Forest Fire Wardens and all stood as a standing vote to show their appreciation for his work in arranging the program.

LINCOLN

During the recent "shut-down" the Machine Shop has had a new apprentice on the job—none other than John Walsh of Pollard Road. John thinks that he will take his next position in the Lincoln Hotel as dish-washer to get his hands clean again for school next fall.

The Editor asked Ed Levasseur to give a brief history on the success of the local Softball team, and to quote Eddie:

"There isn't much to say about it. We started this team about three years ago. Jim Trachier and myself were asked to pick a team in the millwrights and machinists, otherwise known as 'Joe Temple's 'black boys,' to play the Finishing Room. The team was formed and proceeded to beat, not only the Finishing Room's Team, but in the next three years, such teams as Lebanon, Littleton, Bethlehem, Woodsville, Meredith, Laconia, North Woodstock, Plymouth, and the teams from several C. C. C. camps. Of the fifty or sixty games played annually, they lost once to Laconia and to North Woodstock, twice. As a matter of interest, the team from North Woodstock was made up from residents of that town and also a number from Lincoln.

"We credit our good record to the fact that we have boys who love to play and win., The mistakes which the boys made served as an incentive to play harder and overcome their faults. I have been told that we should break up the team because we are too strong, and can only answer that there are still enough young and middle-aged players left in town to form a team as strong as ours. Age does not seem to be the question; nor does the ability of each individual player enter into the making of a winning team. Our team has always played to win and has done so in many games at the sacrifice of the glory of the individual members—but the working together of the component parts in almost perfect harmony has resulted in an almost invincible machine which has yet to be defeated by any of the other local department teams. The Machine Shop team plays as smoothly as our machines run, and when we do begin to backfire, Bill Canton is always there to put the oil on any rough edges."

Rose and Rita Landry, recently graduated from Lincoln High School, have found employment in Manchester where they are now residing.

The Edward Fourniers have spent four days at Old Orchard and Sebago Lake, Maine, recently.

Brownie's Restaurant reports a good summer business considering the reduced tourist travel caused by the gas rationing.

Eddie Durant and Eddie Fournier and their respective wives went to Bog Pond on a fishing trip, and returned with two trout and a rusty horseshoe found at Georgiana Falls. As the weather was rather inclement, we cannot but hope that the horseshoe will bring more luck on such piscatorial ventures.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Theriault have closed their home and cabins, and from the last reports, are both working at defense jobs in Syracuse, N. Y.

Miss Beverley Lynch began her vacation on July 5 and spent one week in touring the surrounding points of interest on a bicycle.

Mrs. Robert Roy has resigned her position in the Main Office and is succeeded by Miss Marian MacDonald.

Mrs. Adrial Tardiff is helping out in the Main Office during the vacation period with the bustle and efficiency characteristic of her work in the Parker-Young Store.

That pleasant young voice emanating from the switchboard during the days is that of Miss Helena Lynch who is taking Miss Bernice Cooper's place. It has been rumored that traffic management of the E. B. & L. will soon be another of "Lenie's" duties, full details of which may be obtained from Forest Guard Walker and from Fred Boyle. This railroad* accident is the first which has occurred for a number of years, and we can only hope that continued vigilance will keep accident rates as low as in the past.

Mr. Theodore Marceau and family began their vacation on July 4th by going to Canada. They visited Sherbrooke, St. Henedini, P. Q., the home of his parents, Quebec City, and St. Anne de Beaupre. They spent three days in Montreal with Mr. Marceau's brother, Joe. As this is the first vacation which Mr. Marceau has taken in 11 years, we are all glad to hear that he had a very enjoyable and restful ten days.
